SAYS SHOOTING WAS ACCIDENT

Joseph Henderson Charged With Killing His Brother Last Night.

A CLOUD OF MYSTERY

Indications Surrounding The Affair Point to Deliberate and Premeditated Murder.

Although maintaining that he shot his brother accidentally in a scuffle to secure possession of a revolver, the police are firm in their conviction that Joseph Henderson, who is locked up in the city jail, deliberately killed his brother, John W Henderson, and left his body lying in the street while he went home and went to bed. They discredit the story of the accidental shooting because there were two shots fired and on account of Henderson's suspicious actions.

The tragedy which took place at 11:20 o'clock last night, has stirred Alexandria, as it is the first time for a number of years that one white man has killed another and there are incidents surrounding the case which indicate that the crime was deliberate if not premediated.

The two brothers returned home last night after spending the day at the "Dyke," a river resort, three miles below Alexandria, where there are several houseboats and where a number of Alexandrians and Washingtonians go on Sundays for the purpose of playing cards. Joseph Henderson, the younger of the two, had won a small sum of money, and when he left the trolley car at the corner of Royal and Wilkes streets, he said that he was going to a resort in the western section of the city to continue the game. His brother remonstrated with him as they walked up the street and a quarrel evidently arose between the two over the subject.

There were no witnesses to the shooting, which took place near the corner of Wolfe and Pitt streets, just in front of the residence of the late John A. Marshall and a hundred feet from the Alexandria Hospital. Howard W. Smith, president of the Common Council, was aroused by the firing of two shots. He raised a window and saw a man walking up Wolfe street. Another man was lying on the side walk and Mr. Smith could hear his groans. A few seconds later Policeman Roberts, who lives on Pitt street, just around the corner, and whose attention had been attracted by the shots, came on the scene and found John Henderson, unconscious, with a bullet hole in his forehead, over the left eye. He was carried to the Alexandria Hospital where he was attended by Drs. M. D. Delaney and T. M. Jones. The physicians were of the opinion that two bullets had made one hole in the forehead and penetrated the brain. Henderson died at the hospital at five o'clock this morning without regaining consciousness.

Policemen Norris and Rawlett went to the home of Luther Henderson, father of the two men, 810 Franklin street, where they found Joseph Henderson in bed. He had reached home an hour earlier and in response to a question from his mother stated that he did not know the whereabouts of his brother. Young Henderson was taken to the hospital to see his brother, but denied to the police that he knew anything about the shooting.

In the meanwhile Sergeant Wilkinson had been advised that Henderson had turned a pistol over to a boy named Leslie Williams who in turn had given it to the foreman of the Southern Railway roundhouse. Sergeant Wilkinson went to the hospital and after he had convinced Henderson that he knew about the gun, the latter confessed that he had fired the shots.

According to his statements, his brother had remonstrated with him about not going home when they returned from the "Dyke." In the argument a question arose about the pistol which young Henderson carried. His brother insisted upon taking it and in the scuffle that followed Henderson says the gun was fired twice. He says that he then became frightened when his brother fell on the street and went home without stopping to see whether or not he was injured.

Henderson's body was removed to Wheatley's undertaking establishment this morning and Dr. T. M. Jones, city coroner, summoned a coroner's jury which viewed the remains and adjourned to take evidence at 4 o'clock tomorrow.

The jury was composed of Frank A. Church, Thomas M. Dunbar, Kennet W. Ogden, L. F. Dyson, John W. Garner, and James B. Martin.

Joseph Henderson was arraigned before Police Justice Harry B. Caton, and held without bail.

According to the police, young Henderson attempted to shoot his brother several weeks ago at the "Dyke." Several shots were fired, but none took effect. The elder Henderson took the gun away and threw it in the river.

The dead man is 30 years old. He is married and is a carpenter by trade. Joseph Henderson is 25 years ployed as a steamfitter's assistant. ployed as a steamfitters assistant.

SLAYER CONFESSES

Mrs. James R. Wilson Gagged, Shamefully Treated, Tied to Bed Post and Murdered.

Bristol, Tenn., April 26.—Luther Canter, 25 years old, voluntarily surrendered to the officers yesterday evening, after confessing to neighbors that he assaulted and murdered Mrs. James Rufus Wilson, a neighbor, in her home near Bristol. His brother, James Canter, 21 years old, had been arrested as a suspect earlier in the day.

Canter, according to information, given, told that he entered the Wilson home at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, bound and gagged and assaulted Mrs. Wilson and then murdered her. Canter was afraid of being lynched, and pleaded with the officers to spirit him out of the community. He was taken away last night, and it is understood that Sheriff Miller was bound with his prisoner for Roanoke, Va.

Canter soon fell under suspicion, although his brother was arrested first. A warrant was issued for Cantel's arrest a few months ago on a charge of having assaulted a married woman, but Canter avoided arrest by leaving the community. It was only last week that he returned.

Mrs. Wilson was attacked at her home on the Bristol-Abingdon turnpike, three miles from this city, while her husband was on a visit to a farm 12 miles away. It had been arranged that she should attend to her household duties and then go to the home of a relative nearby to spend the night.

Her assailant bound her hands to the bedpost and later stabbed her in the breast with a large knife and shot her through the body with a shot gun, which he found in the house.

Mrs. Wilson was a daughter of Rev. Anthony Ingall, of the Methodist Episcopal Church. She was married to Wilson four years ago. No children were born to them.

The home of the Wilson family was visited by hundreds of people during the day, many women having called. The house is located within thirty feet of the main stone highway running through the county, and within sight of the Norfolk and Norfolk and Western Railway.

ROUMANIA MAKES DEMAND.

Insists Upon Terretorial Concessions From Austria.

Rome, April 26.—Roumania has formally demanded territorial concessions from Austria in Transylvania, according to information obtained yesterday from diplomatic sources by the Sun's correspondent.

Although the demand exacts a reply within a reasonably short space of time, this time limit is not specifically fixed, thus keeping the demand from assuming the nature of an ultimatum.

The concessions demanded are a repetition of those contained in a similar note sent two months ago which still remain in abeyance.

Roumania's attitude is considered here to be of the utmost significance, since it obviously was inspired by Italy and is based on an Italo-Roumanian defensive alliance, contemplating simultaneous intervention of the two countries in the war with the object of realizing for both their national aspirations.

The co-operation of Italy and Roumania was evidenced two months ago when Italy demanded from Austria an explanation of the later's concentration of troops in Transylvania. Further proof of the alliance is given now by another Italian demand for information whether Austria, in addition to the concessions she offers Italy, has offered other concessions to Roumnaia.

BRITISH FLEET WARNED

Norfolk, Va., April 26—The British French squadron of five warships patroling the Virginia Capes has again been notified that violations of the international law regarding the three-mile limit have been observed and that they must cease. The too near approach of the Glasgow and Cumberland to the coast is said to have caused the warning to be sent to the allied warships by wireless on Saturday afternoon, with the request that they withdraw at once. The message is said to have gone direct from Admiral Fletcher and was immediately heeded.

The fact that such a warning had been given the foreign ships was learned yesterday from a sailor who had land leave from their ships over Sunday. Several of the ships returned from the southern drill grounds last night to give the men a needed Sunday's rest.

The Glasgow which Saturday was plainly visible, close in shore at the entrance to the Capes, yesterday had moved out several miles and was barely visible by the use of glasses. The Cumberland seems to have gone beyond the horizon and is now totally invisible. The trolleys to the beaches were yesterday crowded with sightseers, all of whom hoped to get a glimpse of the foreign wardogs, but were disappointed, unless they had the use of powerful glasses.

Observers from Weather Bureau lookouts declare that there are five ships in the present patrol. The Glasgow, the fastest of the squadron is opposite the entrance, two are to the south and two to the north, about five miles apart. This gives them a survey of about 25 miles of the coast.

The feeling grows steadily here that the Kronprinz Wilhelm will be ready for sea by Thursday or Friday and that it is the intention of Captain Thierfelder to make an attempt to dash out to sea. The German cruiser is carefully guarded and little is known of what is going on aboard.

CZAR'S BLACK SEA FLEET IS AT WORK

Bombards Bosphorus Forts at Long Range, Inflicting Damage

BIG SHIPS CLOSE IN

Engagement Now General and Proceeding With Determination—Two British Sailors Injured.

Constantinople, April 26—For half an hour on Sunday the Russian Black Sea fleet bombarded the Bosphorus forts at long range. Little damage was done.

Athens, April 26—The entire allied fleet is today bombarding the forts of the Dardanelles, and the forts all along the line are replying with vigor.

The bombardment commenced early Sunday at long range, and no account of the damage has as yet been received.

Later the big ships closed in under a furious fire and poured their shells into the Turkish defenses.

The battleship Triumph took up a position at the western end of Gallipoli peninsula, and for half an hour dropped shells from her 7.5 inch guns on the Turkish trenches 7,000 yards away.

The British dreadnaught then entered the straits and came under the fire of a Turkish battery of howitzers on the Asiatic side.

The other vessel of the fleet manuevered into position as the Triumph attempted to locate the battery that was raining shells on the vessels at the rate of one a minute.

Three shells struck the Triumph. One crashed through the bridge and wounded a stoker and a bluejacket but the others did only trifling damage.

Within a quarter of an hour the battery was located and the big naval guns silenced the howitzers.

The engagement is now general and is proceeding with determination.

DEATH OF F. W. SEWARD.

Associated With Grave Events in County's History

Montrose, N. Y. April 26—Frederick W. Seward, Assistant Secretary of State in the cabinets of President Lincoln, Johnson and Hayes, and son of former Secretary of State William H. Seward, died here yesterday in his eighty-fifth year. He leaves a wife, Anna M. Seward and one brother, Gen. William H. Seward, of Auburn.

Mr. Seward was closely associated with some of the gravest events in the nation's history. It was he who was sent on that memorable mission from Washington to Philadelphia to warn President Lincoln that his life was in danger if he followed his itinerary through Baltimore. Four years later he figured in another stirring incident after the assassination of Lincoln. He was at his father's bedside when Payne, one of Booth's accomplices pretending to be a messenger with medicine for Secretary Seward, suddenly drew a navy revolver and beat Frederick Seward into unconsciousness. Then dashing into the sickroom, Payne slashed Secretary Seward many times. Both Sewards eventually recovered. Later Payne was captured and executed with others involved in the plot.

Engineer Killed.

WAVE OF DEPRESSION

Berlin Newspepars Realizea Terrible Miscarriage in Acute War Dreams

Berlin, April 26—A wave of depression, which makes the announcement of a German success somewhere almost a necessity, is passing over the German peoplie, finding expression even in the strongly patriotic part of the press. The absolute faith in ultimate German victory has at least temporarily subsided.

The conservative Berlin paper, Der Tag writes that Germany is now paying dearly for the lack of foresght and underestimation of the enemy on the part of German diplomatic representatives abroad and statesmen at home.

"We have made serious miscalculations everywhere," the paper says We expected that India would rise in open rebellion at the first sound of the guns in Europe, and now thousands and ten thousands of Indians are fighting with the English against us. We expected to see the disintegration of the British empire, but the British colonies have come to the assistance of the mother country in a way they have never done before. We expected a successful uprising in British South Africa, and have seen nothing but a fiasco. We expected disorders in Ireland, and instead Ireland has sent some of her best men against us. We believe that the peace at any price' party was all powerful in England, but it has disappeared in the general enthusiasm over the war against Germany. We supposed that England was degenerate and unfit to become an important factor in the war, and she shows herself our most dangerous enemy.

"It was just the same with Russia and France. We thought that France was corrupt, and had lost the sense of national soldarity, and we now find the French to be formidable enemies, We thought that Russia could do nothing; we considered the Russian people too deeply dissatisfied to fight for the Russian government; we counted on her disappearance as a great military power. But Russia has mobilized her millions very quickly and very well; her people are enthusiastic and her strength is crushing.

"Those who have led us to commit these errors and miscalculations, who have caused us to despise our neighbors, have taken upon themselves a terrible burden of responsibility."

MURPHY MAY BE CALLED TO STAND

Bi-Partisan Boss Will Appear at Behest of the Defense

FINAL SAVOR OF CASE

Secretary of Tammany Hall Subpoenaed—Roosevelt Said to Have Spent $8,000 Last Week.

Syracuse, N. Y. April 26— Interest in the Barnes-Roosevelt libel suit centers today in the probability that Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, will be called as a witness. It is said here that the chances are the man whom Colonel Roosevelt linked with William Barnes, Jr., as a bipartism boss will appear at the behest of the defense.

Those who have listened with keen relish to Colonel Roosevelt's emphatic testimony, and who anticipate eagerly the rebuttal of Barnes, feel that it will take the presence and story of the taciturn Tammany chieftain to give the celebrated case its final savor.

It is known that some of the colonel's counsel think it would be good strategy to call Murphy, no matter what he might say on the stand.

Thomas F Smith, secretary of Tammany Hall, is here under subpoena. Smith is expected to admit that Murphy is the Democratic boss of New York city, and not a little interest centers about the extent to which he will go in outlining the limits of Murphy's power. But the chieftain himself would command vastly more attention, and what he had to say, be it much or little, would be written indelibly in the history of politics in this State.

Speculation today turned on the probable cost of the proceedings. From an authoritative source on the Roosevelt side, it was learned, the cost to the colonel for the last week is figured by his lawyer at $8,000. This includes a part of the counsel fee, witness fees, hotel expenses and other incidentals.

ITALY AWAITS WAR CALL

Paris, April 26—Mariel Cachim, a Paris deputy, telegraphs from Northern Italy the following: "The hour of Italy's intervention in the war is about to sound. There is no Italian who does not say he feels this. There is nothing but war talk in the streets hotels and trains. There are a thousand indications of war at every hand, and in the last few days events have tumbled over one another with such startling rapidity that the explosion may occure at any moment.

"Four hundred thousand Italian troops are massed on the Austrian frontier and every train to Northern Italy is filled with soldiers. All have arms, horses and ammunition. The concentration has been silently but methodically carried out during the last few weeks, and Italy now has 1,000,000 men ready to fight and already quartered on the future battlefield.

"The whole country is preparing hospitals and ambulances. The municipality of Milan is building connecting rails between the railroad and tramways for the rapid transportation of the wounded. There are 24 military hospitals in Milan alone.

"The state has requisitioned ships in all the ports and is suspending commercial navigation.

Rome, April 26—Italy is preparing to give a triumphal welcome to Gabrielle d'Annunzio when the latter reenters Italy, after four years of voluntary exile. As the poet declared his return would coincide with the first day of mobilization the impression prevails that the hour of the decisive step is imminent.

D'Annunzio's speech on May 5, at the unveiling of the monument at Quarto, whence Garibaldi's expedition sailed, is awaited with the greatest interest. The King has promised to attend. If the promise is kept it will be regarded as most significant as D'Annunzio is expected to sound the war note against Austria.

Odd Fellows Celebrate Ninety-Sixth Anniversary Last Night—Dr. Allison Delivers Sermon.

The ninety-sixth anniversary of Odd Fellowship was observed at the Second Presbyterian Church last night with an interesting order of exercises. There was a large congregation present and about one hundred Oil Fellows. Rev. Dr. Jno. Lee Allison, pastor, preached an interesting and appropriate sermon. From the text, Micah vi., 8— "What doth the Lord require of thee, O, Man, but to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with thy God."

Dr. Allison said in part:

We are met this evening to observe the ninety-sixth anniversary of Odd Fellowship. It is fitting that this occasion take place in God's house. The life of this splendid fraternal order derives its genius from Christianity. It is not a religion, but its handmaid, and has been a potent dispenser of human sympathy and helpfulness. It seeks to bind the human race into one great brotherhood and has as its cardinal principles Friendship, Love and Truth, that commend the order to all who stand ready to help in all the misfortunes and calamities of life.

The text refers to three solemn, tremendous obligations which the Almighty lays upon every human being—do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with thy God. The injunction is to do right and transform the common-place duty into the uncommon, the ordinary into the extraordinary, and to exercise the virtue of mercy, which is love toward the suffering and needy. It is a beatific virtue, for

The quality of mercy is not strained;
It droppeth as gentle rain from heaven
Upon the place beneath; it is twice blessed,
It blesseth him that gives and him that takes.

It transforms righteousness into goodness and justice into grace. The last requirement is to walk with God—think His thoughts, do His will in every ordained path through green pastures and besides quiet waters, ready to be led, eager to learn and swift to obey.

Dr. Allison, in conclusion, charged the brethren to be faithful to the principles and purpose of the order—visiting the sick, relieving the distressed, educating the orphan and burying the dead, and when the earthly lodge shall close may we hear the Eternal Sire above say, "Well done, good and faithful servants for asmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these, my brethren, ye did it unto me."

A special feature of the service was the music, notably two solos rendered by Miss Lillian Guthrie Allison, who sang "The Lord is My Shepherd," and "Ruth and Naomi," by Miss Lucy Graves.

WILL ELECT A CAPTAIN

Alexandria Light Infantry to Name Slaymaker's Successor.

A special meeting of the Alexandria Light Infantry, officially known as Company G, 1st. Regiment, Virginia Volunteers, will be held tonight at the Armory for the purpose of electing a captain to take charge of the company. Captain Frank L. Slaymaker, who has been in command since the reorganization of the company eight years ago, resigned two weeks ago, turning the company over to First Lieutenant W M. King.

At to-night's meeting action will also be taken on the proposition to have a new roof put on the armory building. The project for the remodeling of the building at a cost of $5,000 has been abandoned for the present.

HONOR ASCENSION DAY

Old Dominion Commandery Knights Templar, Will Celebrate Occasion at Christ Church.

The next two or three weeks will be busy ones for members of Old Dominion Commandery, No. 11, Knights Templar, as a number of important meetings will be held in connection with the observance of Ascension Day, which is one of the most important events which are celebrated by this branch of Masonry.

Ascension Day services will be held at Christ Episcopal Church Sunday afternoon, May 16, at which time a sermon will be preached by Rev. William J. Morton, rector of the church. Orient Commandery, No. 5, Washington, is expected to attend. Members of the order will assemble in Masonic Temple at 3 o'clock and march in a body to the church.

Arrangements have also been made by the members to attend Ascension Day services of Fredericksburg Commandery, No. 1, at Fredericksburg, Sunday evening, May 2. The Alexandrians will leave here at 5 o'clock.

A called conclave of the commandery will be held Friday night for drill in preparation for Ascension Day services.

FIRE SATURDAY AFTERNOON

Ware House and Residence Threatened by Burning Trash

Fire Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock threatened to destroy the historic Marshall House, at the corner of King and Pitt streets, the scene of the Ellsworth-Jackson tragedy of the civil war. The fire started in a pile of trash in the rear of L. L. Milton's store, 426 King street, and spread to a small warehouse at the rear of the Marshall house used as a crockery warehouse by C. S. Elliott.

The residence at 110 South Pitt street, owned by Robert Elliott and occupied by John Magner and family became ignited and was partially destroyed. The total damage will amount to $1,000.

WHITE SOX TRIM REX A. C.

The White Sox trimmed the Rex A. C. of Washington yesterday by the score of 8 to 1. Features was the pitching of Quayle, not allowing the Rex to score until the ninth inning, and getting two hits, while Ward held down the receiving end in fine form, getting two hits, one being a two-bagger. Payne landed on one for a three-bagger, and the whole team showed fine form, only one error being against them.

Next Sunday the White Sox will cross bats with the Petworth, of Washington, at the Cove.

The Willard W. C. T. H. will meet tomorrow at 3 o'clock at 713 Cameron street.

LOST—On Saturday, April 24th, 1915, a pair of gold rimmed eyeglasses, with black automatic fastener attached. Lost between the corner of Prince and Pitt streets, or on Royal street from Prince to The market house. Finder will please return to Mrs Mark L. Price 415 Prince street, The Virginia Apt.

AN ADVANCE SHOWING OF

Beautiful White Dresses

FOR GRADUATION AND EARLY SUMMER WEAR.

We are making an unusually large display of Sheer White Dresses appropriate for graduation and summer wear for young women, in fashion designs on the newest lines of the season. An assortment bewildering in the varied modes suitable for commencement, graduation and the social festivities of the early summer.

Some elaborate and profusely trimmed, embodying every favored fashion tendency. Pretty coat effects, combined with filet and net, bodices of filmy materials, triple flouncings, long overskirts and tunice, scalloped edges; silk-trimmed-ruffles—a host of distinctive style touches.

A strong feature of the display is the great number of garments of simple, and without trimming, in which the extreme beauty of the sheer materials is much in evidence, answering the demand of those who must seek gowns of this character—dainty bolero effects, vestees of macrame lace; long sleeves or sleeves that reach below the elbow.

Dresses too, for late summer wearin many beautiful fashions and materials—Embroidered Nets, Plain Nets with lace, combinations of Net and Organdy and Charmeuse and Net.

LAST NIGHT'S FRATRICIDE.

While most people were in bed last night the stillness within a few yards of the Alexandria Hospital was suddenly broken by two pistol shots, and persons in the neighborhood who arose and rushed into the street found a young man lying upon the sidewalk near the southwest corner of Wolfe and Pitt streets weltering in his blood. A wound in the head from which the gore was flowing showed the young man was beyond human aid and that his death was inevitable, and he expired at an early hour this morning. A brother of the dead man, it was learned, discharged the pistol and walked away after the shooting.

The police later found the brother at his home where he had retired after doing the shooting. Upon being taken in custody he alleged that the pistol had been discharged twice accidentally. But the police are not inclined to believe his story. He also said he and his brother had been gambling during the day at the Dyke, on the electric railway, and upon reaching the city at a late hour at night, the brother who was shot had remonstrated with him because he had insisted upon visiting a resort in this city where he desired to spend the remainder of the night.

This tragic occurrence should prove a coal of fire upon the backs of the authorities of Fairfax county who have for years tolerated gambling within the view of hundreds of residents and thousands of tourists passing up and down the electric railway, especially on Sundays. The houseboat, formerly the ferry steamer Columbia, which at one time lay at anchor in the Potomac, close to Alexandria, was later moored in Hunting creek. Over a year ago a heavy northwest wind blew it on the opposite side of Hunting Creek since which time it has been on Fairfax county territory. Hundreds of persons mostly from Washington, hie themselves to it every Sunday without let or hindrance.

It is also stated that suspicious house boats are nestled under the banks of the Dyke three miles south of Alexandria They are patronized, it is alleged, by young and old.

We live in an era of reforms, and good people are laboring to turn the misguided from the broad road to destruction. What a field for missionary work is presented at our doors!

ANCIENT EXCUSE FOR FAILURE.

The Koelnische Zeitung of Berlin in its observations concerning what will happen if Germany does not win in the present war says:

"Even if a miracle happened and England were able to impose her own terms upon Germany, it would not matter as much as might be expected, for we Germans are intellectually so immeasurably superior to the English that the latter can never conquer the German spirit. In science, for instance, Germany is at least a century ahead of England."

When Napoleon invaded Egypt for the purpose of crystalizing his dream of an oriental empire he was accompanied by savants, who rode upon asses. The French were subject at times to sudden attacks from the Mamelukes, and in order to repeal these fierce cavalrymen the French would form hollow squares, after the command, "Savants and jackasses to the centre" had been uttered. These surprises were frequent, and the alarm for the scientists and their animals to rush to the centre was often uttered as a practical joke.

After the failure of the Egyptian campaign, Napoleon urged as a reason for the sacrifice of thousands of men and millions of dollars that science had been enriched by his expedition.

The Berlin newspaper urges this lame explanation in case victory does not follow German arms.

THE OLD BRADDOCK ROAD.

Daughters of the Revolution Mark Historic Highway.

The committee of the Daughters of the Revolution of which Mrs. William H. Talbott of Rockville, is chairman reported to the convention the marking of the old Braddock road. The report as published in the dispatches does not indicate what part of the trail was marked. General Braddock landed with his army at Alexandria, Va. He divided his troops there, one body going westward through Virginia by way of Winchester. The main body, under command of the General in person, crossed over to Maryland, landing at or near Georgetown. The line of march was through the centre of what is now Montgomery county to Fredericktown. In that town the troops rested while Dr. "Ben" Franklin was gathering wagons for the transportation of supplies. The route from Frederick was along what is now the Western road, crossing Catoctin Mountains at Braddock Heights, through Middletown and through Turners Gap, in South Mountain, to the present site of Boonsboro. Thence the route went across what is now Washington county to a settlement then known as Conococheague, where the creek of that name flows into the Potomac. There the army crossed into Virginia, and some miles farther on reunited with the other troops. Farther west the army recrossed into Maryland and went through Fort Cumberland, nearly along the course of the old national pike. It was near this road that Braddock was buried. His grave was marked, and in order to save the delay occasioned by passengers in the stages insisting on visiting the grave it is said that a stage driver moved the marker nearer the road. There is much history and many romantic stories and incidents connected with the old Maryland trails. The "Three-Notch" road in Southern Maryland was so called, according to tradition, because it was marked through the forest by three notches cut in the trees in recognition of George III. There are several "Rolling Roads" in the State over which hogsheads of tobacco were rolled in early times. The Daughters of the Revolution will do well to discover and mark these ancient trails and to put their historians to work on them. —(Baltimore Sun.)

INJURED IN CRASH.

Motorcycle Carrying Man and Woman Collides With Truck.

Philadelphia, April 26.—A man and a woman were critically injured yesterday morning when a motorcycle on which they were riding struck a motor truck at Wissahickon avenue and Queen lane, Germantown. The accident also revealed the fact that Frederick Maurer, a married man, of No. 3148 North Ninth street, who was one of those injured, was out riding with Mrs. Minnie McGovern, of No. 914 West Susquehanna avenue, who also was badly hurt. Beside facing death in the Germantown Hospital, Maurer also is confronted with trouble with his wife, if he should recover.

Kick of Horse Kills Owner.

Luray, Va., April 26.—Luther Kite, aged about 40 years, was killed in Page county Saturday night by being kicked by a horse. Kite had unhitched his horses and was preparing to put them into the barn when he was struck in the stomach.

He died in a few minutes. He was a farmer and lived at Grove Hill, 18 miles south of Luray.

ANOTHER HAT FOR THE RING.

Westmoreland Davis to Announce His Candidacy for Governor.

Richmond, April 26.—Westmoreland Davis, of Loudoun county, will announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of Virginia about May 1.

Mr. Davis has been prominently mentioned for the governorship for some months, and recently it became known to his friends that he had practically decided to enter the race against Attorney General John Garland Pollard, United States District Attorney R. E. Byrd and Lieutenant Governor J. Taylor Ellyson. However, it was not until within the last few days that he would give any assurances. It is understood now that he had made up his mind, and that within the next ten days he will make public announcement of his decision.

When Mr. Davis enters the race there will be four candidates for the place. The primary will not be held until August, 1917, two years hence. In the meantime county officers all over the State, members of the Senate and members of the House of Delegates must be elected. Nominations are being made in a few places now, some already having been made, but the vast majority of the Democratic candidates will be nominated August 3. Then comes the primary of August, 1916, for the United States Senate, in which Senator Claude Swanson will be a candidate to succeed himself. He has no opposition as yet, but Congressman Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, is expected by many to enter the lists.

With these important primaries and elections intervening, there will be little public agitation of the question of the nomination for Governor before the fall of 1916. This does not mean, however, that the four candidates will not be at work. They are at work now, and will be quietly until the date of the primary, unless some of them conclude to withdraw.

Mr. Davis was expected to enter the lists, for it has been generally known for a long time that he has been considering the question, attempting to gauge his probable strength before making his announcement.

Efforts were made recently to induce Mr Davis to run for Congress from the Eighth District in opposition to Congressman C. C. Carlin, but the Loudoun man turned a deaf ear to these proposals. He had his eye on the Governor's chair.

JAPANESE PRESSURE.

Press Calling Upon the Government to Present a United Front Toward China.

Tokio, April 26.—The firm attitude of the government in pressing its demands upon China is meeting with widespread aproval in Japan, and public opinion is manifesting itself with increasing force in this direction. Although Parliament is not in session, a large number of members of the national legislature are lending active support to the government.

One hundred of these members placed themselves on record yesterday as favoring the demands of Japan. They laid special emphasis upon demands for railway and mining concessions and provisional supervision over financial, political and military affairs of Eastern Mongolia.

Asserting that Japan is actuated by the desire to bring about permanent peace in the Orient, they urged the government to proceed firmly with its program.

The press calls upon the nation to present a united front at this juncture, and declares the world should be brought to the realization that the outcome depends entirely upon China. As one newspaper puts it:

"China has tried our patience to the last limit, and has employed every device to involve other powers."

MANY BLUEBABIES

New York, April 26—The twilight sleep treatment in childbirth has been abandoned at the Polyclinic Medical School and Hospital in this city.

It has been abandones, too, at the City Hospital on Blackwell's Island one of the largest institutions of its kind in the world.

At the Jewish Maternity Hospital on East Broadway the use of the treatment has been so restricted as now to apply to only about one half of the women who formerly were considered eligible.

At the Sloane Maternity Hospital the method is being used only in a comparatively few selected cases, and this is true at present at practically all the institutions in Greater New York where the stork pays visits under medical supervision.

The reason given at all the hospitals is the same—too many "blue babies;" too high percentage of death among the twilight sleep infants.

CAPE HENRY FORT

Army Engineer Directing Important Mapping

Norfolk, Va., April 26—In preparation for the mammoth fort to be erected within the next year or two at Cape Henry, to guard the entrance to the Chesapeake Bay, the War Department last week began a minute survey and maping of all the territory east of Norfolk and between the city and the Atlantic Ocean and north to the shores of the Bay. The work is being done by a lieutenant, a sergeant and a squad of privates.

It was explained that it is to be a topographical map, in which all obstruction to travel across fields, as well as by roadways, will be accurately set forth; all streams indicated, the bridges, their strength; the points where pontoon bridges could be constructed most easily and quickly or streams forded; the railroad facilities and lines indicated. Great care is also to be taken to indicate the water supplies, and samples are being forwarded to Washington for analysis.

The map is being prepared in 10-mile sections, and one of these was covered last week. The men have a complete camping outfit, with two big army wagons and a number of mules. As soon as one section is mapped they strike tent and move to the next section designated for survey. One of the tents is fully equiped with all kinds of typewriters and duplicating machines, as well as drawing outfit. Neither time nor expense is being spared to make the work thorough down to smallest details. The party expects to complete the work by June.

The officer in charge declares that the map would not only be complete for military purposes, but that the data accompanying it would be sufficient to answer any question arising as a result of operations. It is also expected that the government will construct a modern roadway to Cape Henry, now sadly needed.

DISTRESSING OCCURRENCE.

Infant Killed And Brother Seriously Wounded in Mysterious Manner.

Hyattsville, April 26.—Laurence E., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bursey, living on Maryland avenue, this place, is dead, and their six year old son, John Lewis Bursey, is at Sibley Hospital, Washington, with an ugly gunshot wound in the right side of his face.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Bursey, the mother of the children, was preparing to dress the little ones for a visit to Washington. The children were downstairs, when suddenly there was a loud explosion in the back hall. Mrs. Bursey rushed down and found little John in the hallway, his face covered with blood. She grabbed him in her arms and ran to the front door screaming for help. As soon as neighbors arrived she fainted away, and it was several hours before she regained consciousness.

Mr. Bursey, the father had returned only a day or so ago from West Virginia and Pennsylvania, and brought home a number of friends from Harrisburg. At the time of the accident he was with his guests at Mt. Vernon. He knew nothing of the tragedy until he entered his home.

Just how the gun, was discharged is not known. Mr. Bursey stated that when he left it standing in a corner in the pantry there was no loads in it. Two empty shells were taken from the gun after the accident. It is presumed that John Bursey, who is an exceptionally bright and playful child took the shells out of a box on the pantry shelf, and, after placing them in the gun, cocked the weapon. Just how the gun was discharged so as to strike both children is the mysterious part of the affair. It is certain that both shells were discharged and that both children were in front of the gun.
